

EUPeace

EUPeace – European University for Peace, Justice, and Inclusive Societies

Virtual Round Table: How to Build Peace and Security after Conflict? – European Perspectives

May 4, 5-7 pm CET

<https://webconf.hrz.uni-marburg.de/b/rap-zvs-mex-s5h>

For a long time, research and policymaking have focused on how violence can be ended and sustainable peace established in the context of civil wars. For example, coming to terms with past violence, reforming the security sector and building legitimate state institutions are considered particularly important in this regard. The Russian-Ukrainian war, but also recent internationalised intra-state wars, raise the question of what we can learn from this research for these types of conflicts and what new perspectives need to be considered.

On the panel, we want to present our research findings, but also new thoughts and European perspectives on the topic area. Then we will discuss which follow-up questions arise from this for questions of peace and security building at the national, regional and international level.

Contributions by:

Emilie Chevalier, University of Limoges

Andreas Langenohl, JLU Giessen

Neophytos Loizides, University of Kent

Edward Morgan-Jones, University of Kent

Daniela Serban, Comillas Pontifical University

Moderator:

Thorsten Bonacker, University of Marburg

Join the Discussion!

Europa
wochen  2023

The event is organised by University of Marburg, Center for Conflict Studies, with the support of Justus Liebig University Giessen.

If you have questions on the event please contact eupeace@uni-marburg.de

